2022 Time Trial Results

UC866 Jack Nunn Time Trial – 6 April 2022

What a difference a week makes. Although there had been heavy showers all afternoon and several while Sue and I were waiting for people to sign on the strong wind meant that much of the course was drying fast. And for once it did not actually rain during the event. The wind produced something not often seen on MyWindSock - a negative wind impact which is where the tailwind outperforms the headwind. This can be seen in the results where those who raced last week were a minute plus faster this week.

We welcomed Theo to his first club 10 and inevitably a course PB. He split the usual suspects in the results.

Jack Nunn Time Trial No 1 – 30 March 2022 – UC866

So having had several weeks of dry, warm weather the forecast was not auspicious for the first club evening 10 of the year. While checking the course for roadworks the individual rain drops became a shower and then of course a downpour (or at least that is what if felt like riding through it). The bone dry roads became wet and looked very shiny, whilst the dark clouds brought forward last light. The eight riders did wonder why, especially Mr Freegard who had chosen to ride fixed; so had longer on the course. Oh yes and the temperature dropped rapidly with the arrival of the rain.
